Beck, with as fine a show of courage as of intelligence, does the highly protected State of Pennsylvania a good turn, and stirs his colleagues to cheers, by a protest against the surrender to the Executive of the tariff-making power of Congress worthy of the great Henry Clay himself. It should be remem bered that once a President seizes this function one may come along some day and use it to destroy the whole protective theory.

The answer to Germany's fourth ob-ection is that Mr. Young, when he proposed that German annuities should average $488,310,000, fixed the unconditional portion of these payments at $197,706,000, Dr. Schacht having lowered this figure, when accepting Mr. Young's other figures to $157,212,000, and the creditors are now increasing the unconditional payment only to the average suggested by Mi. Young. It is admitted that the controversy over reimbursement of Belgium for the francs she was forced to exchange against marks presents a knotty prob-lem and that a way around it has not yet been found. If the conference surives today's shock this alone will take time to settle.

Inited States Would Be the Greatest Loser, Says Howell, of Nebraska. (Associated Press.)

The movement to have the United States agree to a reduction of its claims against Germany for expense of the Army of Occupation, if other allies agree to make a similar cut, was denounced in the Senate yesterday by Senator Howell (Republican), Nebraska, as an entering wedge to test American senti-ment in favor of a reduction of war

He asserted the United Stats would be the greatest loser, because other countries have all but collected army occupation charges, and said the move was against the best interests of the was against the best interests of the American taxpayer.

Senator Fess (Republican), Ohio, said the American Army had remained on German soil at the express request of the other allies, and Senator Swanson

Special to The Washington Post. Martinsville, Va., May 22.-Two caskets this evening contained the bodies of a mother and her three children who were burned to death at 7 o'clock this morning when trapped in their blazing home. They were Mrs. H. Spencer, 32; Ildo Spencer, 12; Juanita Spencer, 5, and May 7 oncer, 2.

The tragedy took place near Bassett not long after the husband had left the house to do chores and his son, Melvin, 15 years old, had gone to work on the 15 years old, had gone to work on the nearby Bassett golf course. A sudden thud attracted the boy, and, looking toward the house, he saw smoke and flames issuing from it. The supposition is that an oil cooking stowe exploded when Mrs. Spencer was preparing breakfast. The explosion apparently wrecked one side of the house, which seemed to fall in before the flames made great headway.

He finds himself compelled take congnizance of the debt because France will have to pay America $400,-200,000 for purchased war supplies on August 1 next unless the Mellon-Berenaugust 1 next unless the Melion-Deren-ger agreement is ratified. How to avoid payment of the $400,000,000 due on the maturity of her gold bonds with-out ratifying the debt agreement appears to be an unsolvable problem un-ess the United States can be persuaded to act against the interests of its own taxpayers, and the outlook for such acon is anything but bright.

Poincare desires to be informed of it before asking the French Parliament to ratify the Mellon-Berenger agreement. If there is to be no hope of a change in America's position and if the $400,000,000 must actually be reckoned with on August 1, the probabilities are that Poincare will take steps to procure ratification. posals were made that Congress authorize the President to appoint a law thorize the President to appoint a law enforcement commission.

White House officials had been informed that the amendment was stricken from the bill in conference, but an examination of the law discloses that such was not the case. The language of the law authorizes the use of the money in the fiscal years 1929 and 1930 for an inquiry into the enforcement of the prohibition and all other laws.

President Hoover, so far as known, as not changed his attitude on the rench debt situation. The President as himself a member of the American debt funding commission and knows all the tricks of the game. The fact that the $400,000,000 debt due on August 1 gives America for the first time a real prospect of getting action on the debt agreement is known to all Américan officials. Over a period of seweral years, officials of the Treasury Department here have looked forward o August 1, 1929, as the time when france would be compelled to face the saue involved in the debt she owes to

This would mean that ratification by the United States Senate—which may not be forthcoming until the regular resasion—would not be a bar to adjusting the $400,000,000 debt, although it would be necessary for the Congress to authorize the Treasury Department to forego collection on the date when the French bonds mature.

But reports that the United States would be disposed to forego collection on August 1 in return for a French promise to ask for ratification at an indefinite future time are not taken seriously at the Capitol and Congress would under no circumstances consider exchanging $400,000,000 for more promises of the brand which have so far proved valueless so far as France's indebtednes to the American Taxpayers is concerned.

Freight Claim Division Men Called Money-Savers at Convention.

RAPS OFFICIAL TIMIDITY

Secretary of Commerce Lamont told he American Railway Association's freight claim division at its annual convention here yesterday at the Willard Hotel that the railroads have managed to exist only after a sharp struggle.

"The contribution you have made to railroads has been a very substantial one in making it possible for the carriers, in recent years, to make their earnings," the Secretary declared. "With the constant pressure for lower rates, and constant increase in wages, it has only been by a very reat improvement in the operation, the paring down of expenses, and watching of small economies that have made it possible for the railroads to exist.

"This group has been doing a remarkable work in the reduction of freight claims," he continued. "If I had not great confidence in the man who handed me these figures, I should have difficulty in believing that it was possible to have brought about the re-duction in losses by claims from 1920 to 1928 that has taken place.

"The same thing is true to a lesser extent of the trucks. The railroads now are solving this problem in a way by going into motor passenger transportation themselves.

Railroads Have Been Timid.

With respect to the growing policy of inland waterway development, especially on the Mississippi River, the Government puts in operation a fleet of barges owned by the Government itself, on a waterway developed and maintained by public taxation, and at rates arbitrarily lower than the rail rates. arbitrarily lower than the rail rates, and through all of this most of the railroads fold their hands and look on complacently, in few cases raising their voices against it for fear they will be misunderstood, or some shipper will be fifended at their efforts to oppose this ubsidized scheme. "I believe the barge line is fastened on us now forever, and I believe it is pretty largely the fault of the railroads that this is true."

J. H. Butler, of New York, head of public relations of the Railway Express Agency, predicted a rapid and steady growth for air express in pointing out that the service now covers a network of more than 10,000 miles, in addition to the added service given in rail-air connections. Nut-Sweet Flavor

It takes three years to produce Lucky Strike's flavor. This unrivaled cigarette is a blend of finest tobaccos from each of three consecutive growths—the cream of the crop. Then comes the secret toasting process which in the opinion of 20,679* physicians makes Lucky Strike less irritating than other cigarettes. This exclusive heat treatment also purifies the tobacco and adds a touch of nutsweet flavor-appetizing, delicious, different-the earmark of one of the world's most popular products.

Committee Appointment Deferred. Dr. W. R. Dobyns, moderator, said this afternoon he would not appoint the committee, eight commissioners in addition to himself, until a later date. A resolution condemning war was adopted today as a part of the report of the committee on foreign relations. Dr. Kirk, in his arraignment of the foes of the council of churches, charged that there was an apparent desire within the church for "an unchanged ruralization and unrevised

"My kind of Presbyterianism," he said, "is not an unchanging social condition with an unchanged, unrevised medieval symbol, but one that tells me of living and growing minds."

Dr. McPheeters had preceded Dr. Kirk on the platform, each with debate limited to 10 minutes, and had pleaded for severance of relations with the council on the grounds that they were contrary to the constitution of the church. He also said that under the guise of pro-gressiveness the council had "far outstepped" that ground and that its posi-tion was not in accord with teachings of the New Testament.

The debate on future relations with the federal council brought out numerous speakers, among them Dr. J. E. said. Wallace, of Oxford, Miss.; the Rev. F. P. Anderson, of Fort Smith, Ark.; Dr. T. C. Johnson, of Richmond, Va. and Dr. Charles R. Stribling, of Orange, Va.
The assembly voted to change its date of meeting from the third to the fourth Thursday in May and will meet next May 22 at Charlottesville, Va.

THE SENATE'S SECRECY RULE.

Senators make themselves ridiculous when they blame the press for publishing news of what has happened in secret session. The rule against disclosure of such information applies to senators and employes of the Senate. It reads as follows:

Any senator or officer of the Senate who shall disclose the secret or confidential business or proceedings of the Senate shall be liable, if a senator, to suffer expulsion from the body, and if an officer, to dismissal from the service of the Senate, and to punishment for contempt.

There is no rule or law that attempts to prevent the publication of the business or proceedings of the Senate. Any newspaper man who is fortunate enough to obtain information from a senator is in duty bound to print it, if it is important enough to print.

He is not bound to divulge the name of the senator who furnished the information. He is not the keeper of a senator's conscience, nor is he particeps triminis in any unlawful or immoral act. Since the Senate rule does not apply to him or to the public, he is not morally or otherwise bound to assist the Senate in enforcing its rule.

The discussion in the Senate over the publication of the vote on Mr. Lenroot's confirmation shows very clearly that all senators believe that a senator, and not an officer of the Senate, was the violator of the rule. Every one outside of the Senate is convinced that some senator furnished the information. It is up to the Senate to find out the offending senaor and expel him. In this effort it is not seemly to attempt to intimidate the newspaper man who obtained and published the information. If he is made of the right stuff he will not disclose the source of his information, and will not be intimidated. Before he can be punished Congress must pass an ex post facto law providing for his punishment: and that might prove rather difficult, in view of clause 3, section 9, article 1 of the Constitution, which forbids Congress from passing any bill of attainder or ex post facto law.

The desire of the Senate to keep some of its proceedings secret is one thing, and the liberty of the press is another thing. Some senators, by confusing the two things, are putting themselves in contempt of the people. They are "socalled" senators, or pseudo-senators, and not true lawmakers. As detectives they take low rank, for they fail utterly to discover the one among them who has violated the rule.

And the world wags on, seemingly oblivious of the crisis in its affairs which has been precipitated by the publication of a matter of minor importance occurring within the closed doors of the Sen-

MERCHANT SHIPPING PROSPECTS.

Today marks the first anniversary of the bassage of the Jones-White bill-the merchant marine act. 1928. The full benefits to be derived from this shipping legislation are diffihit to visualize in so short a time. That this legislation has been instrumental in stimulating American shipping activities is evideaced by the numerous sales of lines and ships by the Government to private owners and in the tonnage prices received for the Numerous contracts for the carriage of mail under the act insure permanency of operation of many important services in essential world de routes. The lines which have mail conracts under their terms will gradually replace add faster and more modern tonnage. While some contracts have already been warded to the shipyards for new construcn, many more will follow which are now a the boards of the naval architects. The me factors in new American ships are costs, service facilities for passengers and cargo, and reduction in construction costs.

The outlook for the future of American shipping is very promising, and with the revival of interest on the part of the American public, particularly the support that agricultural interests and business men of the country in general are giving, indicates very definitely that there has been a real awakening of public interest throughout the entire country. - The greatest exporting nation in the world, with a total water-borne commerce of nearly 100,000,000 tons, valued at nearly $8,000,000,000, must maintain, control and provide ocean transportation service under its own flag which can meet the competition of American shipping services are getting in sten with the development and expansion of other industries. Foreign trade and shipping must go hand in hand.

AN OIL CONFERENCE.

President Hoover has again assumed leadership in the movement for conservation ofthe Nation's oil supply. The President is determined that waste in drilling operations and overproduction shall be curtailed, and he will not tolerate the creation of a monopoly to do it. The dispatch with which he is pushing through his conservation program gives hope that a solution may be reached.

The President has asked the governors of the principal oil-producing States to meet in a preliminary conference at Colorado Springs on June 10. This suggests that the mission of Dr. George Otis Smith, who was sent by the Federal Oil Conservation Board to discuss the administration's plan with the governors concerned, has been successful. Reports to Secretary of the Interior Wilbur from both Dr. Smith and Mark L. Requa, oil administrator during the World War, indicate that California, Oklahoma and Texas will be able to agree upon a program which will be satisfactory to the administration as well as to the Petroleum Institute. A large percentage of the oil produced in America comes from these three Representatives of the Government will meet with the governors, and it is hoped that the groundwork will be laid for an interstate compact for control of drilling and other economy measures. Need for some action to curb excessive drilling and wasteful methods has been apparent for a long time, but the situation has been aggravated by the failure of the operators' agreement voluntarily to limit production. Since then operators of Oklahoma have removed all restrictions and are free to produce as much crude oil as pos-

Working out the details of an interstate compact which will satisfy all of the States concerned, the oil operators and Congress is a task which will tax the best minds in the country. But this appears to be the only hope for curing conditions which have become very unsatisfactory. President Hoover is to be commended for undertaking such a program, and he deserves the support of every interest in pushing it through.

CHIANG AND FENG.

The menace of a new civil war which has hung over China for the past several months is apparently about to materialize. Behind every achievement of the Nationalist government there has been a lurking fear that Marshal Feng Yu-hsiang would not remain loyal. The rivalry between this so-called "Christian general" and President Chiang Kai-shek has been covered up by pretenses of good will, but every student of China has realized that a struggle between the two outstanding military leaders was inevitable before any actual unity could be attained.

During every outbreak against the Nationalist government in recent months Marshal Feng has been expected to join with the insurgents, but he no doubt has his own reasons for waiting. It appears that there is little chance of reconciliation of the two military factions, unless President Chiang should resign, as he has repeatedly said he would do if such action became necessary to unify China. Chiang's attempt to mollify Feng failed. The president sent a telegram to Feng, expressing confidence, which he could hardly have felt, that reports of the latter's disloyalty were false. The "Christian general" replied with public charges that the president is guilty of misappropriation of government funds, abuse of power and defrauding the people to enrich himself. Feng has now announced his intention to make war on the government troops and to crush Chiang. If this break between the two most powerful military figures in China should result in war the result will be serious. Marshal Feng has an army of some 200,000 men. The Nationalist government has an army somewhat larger than this, but it is also confronted by a revolt in the vicinity of Canton. The fundamental authority of the Chiang regime rests on a flimsy military alliance which may not hold together when once Marshal Feng has taken the field against Nanking. Red Kwangsi troops are threatening to attack and loot

The Nationalist government has had theoretical control of China for a year. During that time great progress has been made, All the provinces were nominally united under one government, tariff autonomy was regained. much of the machinery of government was modernized and progress has been made toward drafting a constitution and funding the national debt. No one can accurately forecast what turn events will take, but a prolonged contest for power between the two rival war lords would be a severe blow to the cause of modern government in China. The communist movement is also a disturbing factor which may upset all the plans of the Nationalists.

WOMEN WORKERS

During the industrial depression which followed the World War a great deal was heard about the increase of feminine wage earners in the United States. The increased employment of women in industry was generally blamed for, and was no doubt one primary cause, of the widespread unemployment. In-a remarkably short time conditions were adjusted, so that women in industry are no longsty-at-sea features, economy in operating er considered a menace to male workers. Now when there is cause to complain of unemployment, it is attributed to the displacement of workmen by machinery.

An article in Nation's Business Magazine calls attention to the fact that there are 8,500.000 women gainfully employed in this country. The figure is not up to date, being based on the 1920 census, but unfortunately no accurate count has been made since then. No well-founded estimate of the number of women employed at present is available, but it is generally believed that the 1930 census will show a slight increase in the last ten years.

All indications confirm the belief that the abnormal employment of women during the war was purely temporary. There has been a large increase in the percentage of the female population employed during the last 40 years, but the most rapid increase came between 1900 and 1910, when the number of women employes jumped from 5.000,000 to 8.000,000. In recent years the gains have been slow, and from 1910 to 1920 there was a decrease from 18.1 to 16.5 in the percentage of the female population employed. However, this does not mean a decrease in the actual number of women workers outside the home.

Women have invaded practically every field in the business world and in the professions. But a large portion of them are saleswomen, stenographers, typists or teachers. The majority is still contented with wages lower than are paid to men, and with inferior positions, because they are either temporarily employed or have but limited economic responsibility. That women are in business and professional pursuits to stay is now regarded as a settled fact. But there is nothing to presage a rapid increase in the number employed. Increased wages and greater leisure for men are diminishing the necessity of women working outside the home. Nevertheless, there will continue to be ample opportunity for those women who prefer business careers to

DEVELOPMENT OF COMMUNICATIONS. In his annual report to stockholders, Sosthenes Behn, president of the International

Telephone & Telegraph Co., says: The desirability of consolidating the radio communications services of the Radio Corporation of America with the communications services of the Interna-tional Telephone & Telegraph Corporation has been recognized by both corporations, and a tentative plan has been agreed upon under which the communications services of the Radio Corporation of America may be acquired by the International Corporation when the law per-

The Radio Corporation of America, as well as I. T. & T., has been actively advocating amendment of the law so as to permit the merger of radio and cable companies. Interest in the matter was precipitated when Great Britain not long ago brought about the merger of all British-owned communication services. creating a corporation against which American communication interests claim they will be unable to compete. Agitation looking toward the merger of American communications companies induced Senator Couzens to introduce a bill calling for the creation of a communications commission to take jurisdiction over radio, telegraph, telephone and cable, and hearings upon the measure have brought out in goodly numbers both proponents and opponents of the proposition.

Louis G. Caldwell, former chief counsel of it would be harmful to radio to take it out of tne hands of the present commission and put it under a general commission. B. M. Webster, jr., present general counsel of the commission, although he indorses the Couzens bill in principle, believes that the project should be postponed. Judge Robinson, chairman of the Radio Commission, is of the opinion that the communications commission ultimately must be established, although he holds that the Radio Corporation is entirely capable of competing with the new British radio-cable

On the other side of the fence stands the Army Signal Corps. Maj. Gen. George O. sters occasionally act the way they do Squier, its former chief, says that unless the merger of American cable and radio companies be permitted, in order to compete with similar combinations in Europe, "our foreign business will be seriously handicapped." Maj. Gen. George S. Gibbs, present chief, opposes as reactionary and "very unfortunate" the provision in the law that prohibits combinations between wire and radio companies. The future, says the latter, is bound to witness the formation of a small number of companies utilizing all forms of transmitting intelligence. "If competition is wanted," he adds, "let us have two or possibly three communications companies, but let each be a real communications company, not restricted simply to one form of transmission."

It is apparent that there is no unanimity of opinion regarding the desirability of permitting radio-cable mergers at the present time, nor even as to the desirability of creating a communications commission, a necessary preliminary to any amendment of the provision prohibiting mergers. For the time being there seems to be no likelihood of a change in the law so as to permit consummation of the plan touched upon in Mr. Behn's report. Sooner or later, however, it will be found advisable to encourage combinations between radio and cable operators, with an element of competition provided for, probably according to the suggestion of Gen. Gibbs.

THE CHEERY MYSTERY

OF THE SPRINGS

CCIENCE today confutes what science defended yesterday. What was once acclaimed as truth is now regarded as but a mistake better than its predecessors. Knowledge increases, but there are still many mysteries.

On what does the effective value of waters like those at the Virginia Hot Springs depend? For their efficacy cannot be doubted; it is impressively supported by the experience of thousands. Analytical research has already laid bare many secrets. We know, for instance, that the heavy salt solution exercises a pressure on the body of the bather in such a manner that the blood, which in the case of heart weakness flows too slowly, is pressed out of the veins and driven to the heart. In this way the heart is relieved of a good deal of work and the circulation of the blood, rendered slow by infirmity, speeded up. The heart beats slower and more powerfully, the breathing becomes slower and deeper, all of which are healthy consequences, much to be desired. But the reasons for the variety of happy results achieved are not yet wholly known. However, the benefits derived are comparable with those of the leading European baths

And there are more than the beneficial Springs and the finest of hydro-therapeutic plants at The Homestead. One of the world's most excellent hotels, it is noted far and wide for its delightful social life, dancing, concerts and smart entertainments. Three excellent eighteen hole golf courses, numerous tennis courts, always in perfect condition, and a stable of over 200 saddle horses, offer a wide variety of sports.

A very interesting Booklet will be mailed to you upon request.

This Camera Photographs Movement

As your children play in our marvelously constructed playroom, a newly invented camera—our exclusive possession—is moved about the room keeping them always in focus. The old-fashioned camera, or the more recent concealed camera could not be moved nor could it photograph moving children. The children play delightedly with an artist whose only concern is entertaining them while he captures their happy moments. Underwood alone offers this improved method.

THE SCREENS

When it was stated here, a week ago today, that Mrs. Harriet Hawley Locher was on her way to New York to participate in the ceremonies attendant upon the first demonstration of the value of talking pictures for educational purposes, I was not aware that the director of the public service and educational department of the Stanley Company of America—now known as the Warner Brothers—was to be the speaker of the evening. It seems, however, that she was, although inherent ever, that she was, although inherent modesty, no doubt, has forbidden her disclosing even fragmentary parts of what she said to the indefatigable band who have engaged in the develo of the motion picture as an educa-

Mrs. Locher does disclose, nevertheless, that the first program was the product of the Western Electric Com-pany, and that while a number of sublects were offered, the one of prime importance was made for army instruc-tion. The film showed the handling. dismantling and reassembling of field service pieces by enlisted men, acting under military instructions clearly audible in such tempo as to afford the student ample time to absorb the information given.

Of more interest to the motion picture theaturgoers of the Capital, I dare say, will be Mrs. Locher's succinct report on one of the most-talked-of films recently brought to this country from Russia, the land where stark reality seems to be the aim of those engaged in seeking expression through celluloid.
"The Village of Sin" is the illuminating title of this vivid study of life in the raw.

"T', Village of Sin," says Mrs. Locher, "is an original story by O. P. Wishnewskaya, and directed by a woman, Olga Preobrajenskaya. Perstrated more conclusively that if the audience would get the best the cinema has to give they must accept life projected upon the screen as it is. Truthfulness, sincerity, and fearlessness, are the elements that will lift the screen to its greatest heights. Prejudice, false modesty, and limited vision will ever look upon the screen through a glass which distorts, but if the motion picture is to perform its highest mission in life, it must portray in absolute sincerity human nature as the raw maferial.

"The 'Village of Sin' is not a pleasman picture. It is not entertaining as state and myrna cennedy are cast in the pivotal roles.

While positive announcement is not as yet made to that effect, it is probable that "Broadway" will follow "The Last Warning" at the Ninth Street house.

"The Village of Sin' is not a pleas-ant picture. It is not entertaining as we are accustomed to expect from the

While the "Village" presents a pro-lific source of argument as to just how far a brutish man may go in grinding his women into the dirt, it need not be one of the Capital's im-mediate concerns. I have heard noth-ing of its being booked into any local O'Connell was due to Mr. John Irving Pisher's faulty enunciation, unless it was due to my failing hearing, and the other to Mr. Meakin's erroneous telephone information, or else my poor I note that the swagger straws this season are not so gaudily hatbanded as was the case last year. Bright and belligerent hues seem to have been tossed into the aahcan.

ing of its being booked into any local theater.

This can not be said of "The Fox Movietone Follies," which was accorded a preview at the Fox Theater last night; Lon Chaney, Lupe Velez and Estelle Wentworth in "Where East Is East;" Laura La Plante and John Boles in "The Last Warning;" Alice White in "Hot Stuff" and a notable cast in "Shooting Stars," which open Saturday in the Fox, Palace, Rialto, Earle and Little Theaters, respectively—that is, all but "Hot Stuff," which crashes the town in a special midnight showing at the Earle Friday.

At the Columbia, Mary Pickford, supported by Matt Moore, John Mack Brown and John Sainpolis, will continue through a second week in "Coquette," the sereen adaptation of the Jed Harris stage production starring Helen Hayes, while a block or two farther down the street at the Metropolitan, the Warner Brothers' screen version of "The Desert Song," the first audible picturized operetta, will be Held through the third week of a notable engagement in which the voices of John Boles, Carlotta King and numerous others are heard to great advantage.

quarreled in Boston, and my capture is his revenge."

The conversation lasted for some time. At last supper was brought to the men. The day wore on and night settled down on the glen. Old King Brady and Boston Ben hung around outside the hut up to a late hour. They were worried about Harry and Mrs. Ben. But not a soul came near them. At last the former convict turned in and went to aleap, but Old King Brady determined to keep on the watch all night. So he sat in a chair, falling asleep from time to time, but only for a moment, So it continued until almost daylight when the detective was startled out of a doze by the quick discharge of several rifles further up the glen.

"The best of us make mistakes sometimes. You were backing the Bloomer deal?" Old King Brady looked at him a moment and went on. "Did he tell you that he took a $50 fee from a man named Spalding?"

"Not a word."

"The old rascal pocketed it, and gave me the shake when he found an easier mark in that crazy whisky dealer, Mc-Nally. Well, it happens I got next to Mrs. McNally and now I am here on a double mission."

"I don't believe you fully realize the danger you are in," quickly spoke Boston Ben,"

"And you?"

"Oh, there is no danger for me. I was born within a hundred yards of this waterfall. I know the whole region well. I will be back in a little while." Thus saying, Mrs. Ben guided her horse in under the waterfall and vanished.

"It's up to you now, Ben. If your being made a prisoner with me is only a trick I'll admit freely that this is the time I have played the fool."

"You're wrong," said the former convict. "I am a prisoner, all right. Suppose I do open my mouth and talk—what then? In case we are lucky enough to escape, is what I say going to happen. In a minute a man of the true moonshiner type rode out through the will off water. He was followed by Mrs. Ben and after her twenty men, all armed with long-barreied rifles.

"I awear it shall not be. Besides, there is no witness."

"Oh, witness be blamed! Just as it Old King Brady's word would not be taken against mine any day. But here goes for the truth. Clendening is dead years ago. He was lured to this very place. We hoped to get a big ransom, but the excitement was too much for the old man and he died on our hands."

"And his money divided among the gang, of course."

"Yes. I suppose Ben Bloomer has McNally a prisoner down in another camp. I don't know for sure. We quarreled in Boston, and my capture is his revenge."

Lincoln Bell Dedication on Air Sunday

Memorial Tower Service of Capital Church Also to Be Broadcast by WOL. Hymn Sing Members Are Wanted.

The dedication of the Lincoln Memor-I Tower on the New York Avenue resbyterian Church, a gift of Mrs Robert T. Lincoln, will be broadcast by station WOL at 11 o'clock Sunday morning. This was the church which Abraham Lincoln attended and when the chimes in the new tower are heard for the first time by those attending the dedication exercises Sunday, this privilege may also be enjoyed by radio listeners.

In connection with this event it is recalled that the funeral services of William Jennings Bryan were broadcast from this church. It was one of the first funeral services of a notable personage ever to be heard on the radio in this country.

A group of Christian laymen have organized the Hymn Sing Association, with headquarters at 96 Columbia Heights. Brooklyn, N. Y., to meet what they believe to be the very definite need of fostering the singing of gospel hymns in religious services.

The Midweek Hymn Sing is broadcast each Thursday evening from 6 to

The Midweek Hymn Sing is broad-cast each Thursday evening from 6 to 6:30 o'clock through station WEAF, New York, and usually heard locally via WRC. The Hymn Sing Association has assumed the expense of this service. The money is being raised by member-ahly radio listeners who believe in the efficacy of the old fashioned gospel hymns to join.

Radio sales this year will total about 8600,000,000 figured at retail prices, O. H. Caldwell, former Federal Radio Commissioner, told the Connecticut Chamber of Commerce at Hartford yeslected by the broadcasting stations and chains, represents nearly two-thirds of a billion dollars taken annually by the radio industry which is at the rate of nearly $2,000,000 a day." Caldwell said.

"The broadcasting stations alone "The broadcasting stations alone total $25,000,000 in plant equipment. A modern five-kilowatt station, for example, costs $150,000 to install, and a ample, costs $150,000 to Install, and a $50-kilowatt station involves $250,000 to $$50,000 in investment. At least 7,500 people are employed in the country's broadctsting operations alone, representing an annual pay roll of $15,000,000.

"Invested in the manufacture and distribution of radio sets, reproducers, tubes and accessories, there is now a tribution of radio sets, reproducers, tubes and accessories, there is now a total of $210,000,000, according to careful estimates based upon studies of individual manufacturer's figures. These factories and distributing plants employ 100,000 persons, who receive $200,000,000 annually in salaries and wages. The industry's annual pay roll is thus $215,-000,000 or a daily payment of two-thirds of $100,000

A charming coat of two thicknesses of tulle worn over a sheathlike dress.

Tulle seems to suggest a summer evening in its clear, cool transparencies, and when it is as black as the night it-self it takes on further allure. Then, too, this season it has been sponsored by several of the great couturiers.

Although tulle is often associated with an ingenue frock, it can be as suavely sophisticated as any fabric. For instance, the model in the illustration instance, the model in the illustration has the distinguished sheathlike silhouette, its normal waistline suggested by gentle molding. Low handkerchief godets provide the very chic below the knee fullness and become narrow encrusted panels. And another smart gesture is the accompanying tuile jacket, which is as practical on a warm evening as it is glamorous. This tulle ensemble is also exceedingly chic in soft pastel shades.

WORKING AT 61.

P. F. writes: The man mentioned in your column who thought he was too old to work at 61 might profit by the example of Halley, the great English astronomer who discovered the comet. When Halley was 64 years old he made up his mind to observe the moon through a complete revolution of her nodes—a task which requires 18 years. His friends remonstrated with him for undertaking so long and serious a task but, as sometimes happens with our but, as sometimes happens with our English friends, he thought his own ideas much better. He proceeded to prove this by living and completing his 18-year task, and then lived several more years and did several more pieces of work to boot.

> Lilliendahl Case Will Be Explained on WMAL. Dragonette Sings "Tales of Hoffman" Over WRC: Ballet From "Faust."

The story of the solving of the Lillendahl murder case will be broadcast in the Detective Mystery period from WMAL at 8 o'clock tonight. "The Clue of the Secret Love Letters" is the title of the broadcast which concerns the murder of Dr. A. William Lillendahl of South Jersey. His widow's story that they were attacked while driving in their car by two giant negroes, who killed her husband, was almost believed. The flaw in the story came to light, however, when the secret love letters between Mrs. Lilliendahl and her lover. Willis Beach, were discovered. They are both now in prison convicted of murder, and the detective methods that led to their conviction will be dramatically portrayed in this broadcast.

THE CORRECT PLAY.

Declarer erred in trying a finesse with a hand in which it was easy for him to force the lead up to his tenace, rather than to finesse with it. He could have made the winning of three Spade tricks a certainty instead of an even nesse method.

To tricks 6 to 8, he should have led

To tricks 6 to 8, he should have led-three Clubs; and to trick 9 a trump, putting West in the lead. West must then lead a Spade, a Diamond, or a Club if he had happened to have the thirteener. If a Diamond or Club. De-clarer would trump in one hand and discard a Spade in the other, then the third round of Spades could be trumped and game assured. Or West would nave to lead a Spade (this doubtless would be his lead) up to South's Ace-King-Jack, which obviously would assure three Spade tricks and game. (Copyright, 1929.)

WORST PRICE CRASH IN YEARS HITS LIST

Reserve Board Council Statement Causes Panic in Stock Market.

FEW SHARES HOLD WELL

New York, May 22 (A.P.) .- Once more the Federal Reserve broke the back of the stock market today. Publication of the reserve board's advisory council's recommendation for higher rediscount rates brought a flood of selling that swept stock prices over the falls into A

Although bankers and money brokers pointed out that raising rediscount rates from 5 to 6 per cent would probably have little effect upon call and time money rates, which have been averaging for months between 8 and 9 per cent, the fact that higher rates seemed assured belied rumors that the Federal Reserve authorities might have a change of heart, and precluded any possibility for some time to come of money cheap enough to sustain a pro-longed bull market. Thousands of traders who had been

Thousands of traders who had been holding on in the hope that the thuns der clouds that have been ominously gathering since early February might suddenly blow over, were completely discouraged by publication of the council's recommendation, and let go their holdings for what they would bring, even though an exceptionally large short interest has grown up in

Drop Remains Unchecked.

The selling was of such a decisive character that shorts generally did not rush in to cover, even in the closing transactions, so the drop was uncheck-transactions, so the drop was unchecked, even to the closing gong.

The only bright side to the picture was that the selling was kept within reasonable bounds, the total day's transactions reaching but 4,844,130 shares. The Associated Press index of 50 industrials was swept down 8.7 points

50 Industrials was swept down 8.7 points to 207.2, compared to the year's high of 225.4. Despite the fact that the St. Louis and O'Fallon decision, regarded as the best news for the rails in years, was but 2 days old, the index of 20 rails was depressed 3 points to within 2½ points of the year's low.

The most serious break previously this year was probably on March 26, when more than 8,000,000 shares changed hands, but powerful support came into the market before the close that day, and the index of 50 industrials recorded a net loss of little n.ore that day, and the index of 50 industrials recorded a net loss of little n.ore than a point. The worst break of last year was December 6, when the index atch of 50 industrials was carried down 7.7 points. In some respects that break was more serious than today's, as the turnover was about 1,500,000 shares greater.

Call Money at 6 Per Cent.

The shake out today was despite emporarily plentiful call money, he rate was reduced from 7 to 6 per ent, and some offerings went begging the latter figure. Time money, rearded as a better indicator of what is the offing however held constitution. garded as a better indicator of what is in the offing, however, held around the highest rates since the 1907 panic. One broker said he had placed loans for six months at 9 per cent, and 30-day months at 9 per cent, and 30-day money generally commanded $\(\frac{1}{2} \) per cent. The fact that no increase in the rediscount rate at Boston was announced after the directors' meeting there was somewhat surprising, in view of the known attitude of Gov. Harding. Although the New York directors meet tomorrow, it is thought possible that higher rates may be delayed for an increase at London, in order to avoid a large movement of gold to New York. Sterling cables were well below the incoming gold point today, and the fact that no purchases were announced was attributed only to lack of fast steamship sailings.

There was almost nothing in the day's industrial and business news to depress the market. The steel trade reviews reported that mill operations were being heald near cargacity as or.

ress the market. The steel trade flews reported that mill operations re being heald near capacity, as or-is from other sources offset declines automobile manufacturers' demands. Container Corporation passed its Container Corporation passed its common dividends due at this time, but other dividend actions and earn-ings reports were favorable. President Hoover called a conference of oil State ernors to consider cotnrol of crude

Properties Bekind Smith Offerings - $. No. 1; The Investment Building

Consider the Properties behind SMITH Offerings . . .

A choice site in Washington, D. C., improved by a modern income-producing building is the security behind this issue of real estate mortgage bonds offered by The F. H. Smith Company.

Valuation in 1923 -$4,500,000

The Investment Building is one of the largest and finest office buildings in Washington, and having been completed and in operation for about five years, it has a firmly established prestige. It occupies an advantageous downtown corner location in the business section of the Nation's capital. On January 15, 1923, we offered a 61/2% First Mortgage Bond issue of $2,500,000 on the land and modern eleven-story office building to be erected thereon. The property was valued upon completion at $4,500,000.

Valuation in 1928

By Harry Wardman and James D. Hobbs . $6,024,200

In December, 1928, Messrs. Harry Wardman and James D. Hobbs, prominent Realtors of Washington, D. C., appraised the Investment Building (land and building) at $6,024,200. Ford, Bacon & Davis, Inc., nationally known Engineers and Appraisers, appraised the property at $5,766,000. This shows a substantial increase in the value of this property. Messrs. Wardman and Hobbs appraised the land alone at $2,599,200, giving the land itself, without the building, a valuation of more than the amount of the first mortgage on the property.

What better security for an investment can be found than real estate-land chosen with a view to future as well as present values . . . buildings that are erected in response to a known rental demand?

SMITH BUILDING WASHINGTON, D. C. (815 15th Street N. W .- Main 6460)

THE INVESTMENT BUILDING

The letter of appraisal of Harry Wardman and James D. Hobbs, Prominent Realtors of Washington, D. C., dated Dec. 8, 1928, is quoted below:

"At your request we have made a very thorough investigation of the office building known as Investment Building, Washington, D. C., at the northwest corner of Pifteenth and K Streets, N. W., the land containing Pifteenth and K Streets, N. W., the land containing 32.491 square feet.

"This property, which is completed and having been in operation for several years, is located in the downtown business section of Washington on one of the finest corners in this city. It is directly opposite the new office building being erected by the Southern Railroad to be used as their general offices. Across the street to the east is the Rust Building, and in the general vicinity are other buildings, such as the Department of Justice Building, the Denrike Building, Phillips Building, Edmonds Building, Insurance Building, University Club, Carlton Hotel, Security Savings & Commercial Bank, War Risk Building (a Government Building) and the Lee House Hotel. K Street is one of the great arteries from the east to the west of the City of Washington. This property is ideally located for the purposes of an office building.

is $3,425,000, and the land,

"We therefore appraise this building as a completed project at $5,024,200.00.

"Very truly yours.

(Signed) "HARRY WARDMAN.
"JAMES D. HOBBS."

Certificate of valuation, dated Dec. 17, 1928, of Ford, Bacon & Davis, Inc., nationally known engineers and appraisers:

"Based upon our inspection and inventory as of December 8, 1928, of the Investment Building located at 15th and K Streets, Washington, D. C., and upon an examination of the architectural plans and specifications and using prices of materials and labor current in Washington, D. C., as of the above date, our estimates of the Cost of Production New and Cost of Reproduction New Less Depreciation of the land, building and building equipment such as plumbing, heating, lighting, ventilating, etc., are as follows:

"The value of land included in the above amounts is based on appraisal by competent local real estate experts.

"The above estimates include allowances for cost of financing and for general overhead costs such as organization and legal expenses, engineering and architectural supervision, interest, taxes and insurance during the period of construction.

"The deduction made for depreciation represents the loss due to accrued physical deterioration as observed by our engineer, Supersession, due to obsolescence, inadequacy, or to any other cause has not been considered in the deduction for depreciation.

"The above amounts do not include any value for furniture and fixtures located in the building.

"No allowance has been included in the above amounts shown for building and building equipment, for any value attaching to good will, advantages due to location, going concern, or any other elements of intangible property.

BOND PRICES REACT TO NEW 1929 LOWS

U. S. Federal Issues Yield ... With Others Under Uncertain Credit Outlook.

FOREIGNS FAIRLY STEADY

New York, May 22 (A.P.).-Bond prices today eased into new low ground for the year After a day of many recessions throughout the list, the market averages compiled by the Associated Press stood at 94.75, or seventeenfundredths of a point below the preous minimum established on March 27 during the severe credit stringency. United States Government bonds, in ommon with other legal and highade issues, felt the pressure of uncertainty over credit prospects and welded. Although most of the declines in the best bonds were fractional, losses of a point or more were not infre-quents The market in these obligaquents The market in these obligations, however, was very thin.

""" intral Georgia 5½s and Boston & Maine 5s were conspicuously soft in the rail' section, declining 3 and 2½ points, respectively. New Orleans, Texas & Mexico 5s reached a new low at 91½, of! 2¾, and Canadian Pacific debentine 4s at 89%, off 2, and International Great Northern adjustment 6s, at 85½, off 3½.

Great Northern adjustment 6s, at 65%, off 3%.

Utilities selling at minimum prices for the year included Detroit Edison refuncing 5s, Public Service Electric & Gas 4½s, and Rochester Gas & Electric 7s. West Penn Power 5s changed hands at 101, off 1¾ on the day.
Convertibles, taking their tone from the stock market, declined from a fraction to 3½, the latter loss appearing for International Telephone 4½s, which dropped to 118. American Agricultural Chemical 5½s attracted some buying and moved against the general tone for small fractional advance. Southern Pacific 4½s, with warrants continued to lead the market in volume of trading, touching a new low of 89%. to lead the market in volume of trading, touching a new low of 89%.

In the strial and foreign government bonds inclined to steadiness. National Dairy Products 5½ swere bought in fair volume within narrow price variations. Walworth debenture 6s and first 6s were off more than a point. In the foreign list, new lows were reached by City of Berlin 6s, Bolivia 7s, City of Copenhagen 4½s and Oriental Development 6s, while German Republic 7s equalled the previous low of 105.

All of the United States Government issues receded on increased offerings, Liberty 3½s breaking through to new low ground.

Transfer Agent: COBPORATION TRUST CO. Registrar: EMPIRE TRUST COMPANY The following information is summarized from the letter of C. L. Ofenstein, President of the Corporation:

Scope of Operation: Atlantic Seaboard Airways, Inc., was organized to acquire and/or operate properties which have for their purpose active participation in various branches of the aviation industry. Among these may be ment and operation of airports and air lines; acquiring and operating seaplane terminals; conducting sightseeing flights by airplane and seaplane, providing air transport as an augmented service for steamship, railroad or other forms of land or water transportation, and other legitimate activities which will employ aircraft or airports.

History: Atlantic Seaboard Airways, Inc., organized and incorporated March 23rd, 1929, as a holding and operating company, has acquired all of the common capital voting stock and more than 98% of the preferred stock of International Airways, Inc., which company owns 100% of the capital stock of Potomac Flying Service, Inc. Both of the latter Companies are located in Washington, D. C. The Corporation has acquired more than 95% of all the capital stock of Gettysburg Flying Service, Inc., of Gettysburg, Pennsylvania. All of the acquired companies have been in operation for some time.

Equipment and Activities: The Corporation now has a considerable investment in planes and its fleet includes such wellknown makes as the New Standard, the Aeromarine Klemm, and the Consolidated Husky Training Plane. This equipment will be added to as needs are apparent and will be available for use by subsidiaries. The Corporation acts also as distributor and/or dealer in the District of Columbia and adjoining States for the airplanes mentioned above. The primary function of the Corporation will always be that of coordinator of the activities of its subsidiaries, as well as to conduct operations and own properties in its own name.

It is planned to make the Corporation, through one or more of its subsidiaries, a serious contender for air mail contracts and passenger and cargo transport to and from airports now controlled and to be acquired, and to other suitable landing fields.

With the properties already developed and in operation the Corporation is receiving substantial revenue.

International Airways. Inc.: This subsidiary owns Hoover Field, the nationally known airport at Washington, D. C. Hoover Field is completely equipped with hangars, machine shops and an administration building. International Airways, Inc., also owns a fleet of airplanes of various makes and a fleet of training planes. This subsidiary proposes to operate an airline from Washington to Norfolk as soon as arrangements can be completed. It is further planned to operate airlines from Norfolk to Old Point Comfort, Virginia Beach, and other points of historic or popular interest. Other lines are planned from Washington to many points on the Atlantic Seaboard. It also acts as distributor and dealer for Travelair airplanes in the District of Columbia and adjoining States.

Potomac Flying Service, Inc.: This subsidiary maintains one of the greatest flight passenger services in America. It operates Hoover Field and in addition to conducting passenger flights, leases planes for aerial photography, conducts cross-country flights and provides student instruction. Its flying school now has a large enrollment of students. The flying school is provided with a large fleet of training planes and other complete facilities for the proper instruction of students in both ground work and flying, which fits students for work as limited commercial and transport pilots.

Hains Point Flying Service: This is a division of International Airways, Inc., operating Hains Point Scaplane Terminal, located at the tip of Potomac Park in Washington, D. C. Because Potomac Park is the mecca for thousands of people every day, Hains Point Seaplane Terminal is in a strategic position to capitalize this large daily attendance. Judging from a preliminary survey, it is estimated that this terminal will handle the largest volume of scaplane passenger flights in America.

Gettysburg Flying Service, Inc.: This subsidiary holds a franchise from the State of Pennsylvania, which permits it to operate as a public utility, having the right to conduct passenger flights over the historic battlefield. The service operates a flying field known as Gettysburg Airport, adjoining the battlefield, which serves as an operations base for sightseeing flights and flying instruction. Training at this field fits students for work as limited commercial and transport pilots.

NEW YORK, May 22.—Kid Chocolate, a stringy little black boy from Cuba with a pickaninny face and a brass tooth agleam like the doorknob of a national bank, beat Fidel Labarba, former flyweight champion of the world, in a swift tenround fight at the New York Arena, a new fight amphitheater in the Bronx, this evening, taking the decision after a close but generally harmless fight. "Fancy my annoyance at that." Mr. McMahon related this evening as the trade assembled with noisy camaraderie.

"Several years ago I presented James Joseph Tunney and Martin Burke in a scientific display free of brutality and the customers were so depressed that during round two there was a concerted rush to get out of the arena. In their headlong dash to escape the spectacle the sport lovers jammed up in the exits and several private fights occurred. I was then served with several writs on the ground that there was too battling bonbon of the bantamweights, waged a furious struggle tonight to stamp himself as the outstanding gladiator of a championless division, but failed to convince entirely a crowd of 18,000 jammed in Jess McMahon's big boxing barn that he is the master of Fidel Labarbs.

The curly-headed little Italian from Los Angeles, a former flyweight champion and student at Sanford University, lost the decision to the dazzling negro after a belting fest that swirled and eddied to rising volleys of cheers through the Coliseum ring for ten hectic rounds. When the battle was over and the colorful negro's record of 147 battles without defeat still was unbroken, the cheers still were for the courageous, rushing slugger from the Parageous, rushing slugger from the Pa-cific Coast.

Crowd and Ringside Critics Thought Bout a Draw.

The voice of the crowd and the opinion of a majority of ringside critics awarded Fidel at least a draw and possibly the decision because of aggressiveness that never faltered, courage and a busy punching attack that was never entirely stilled by the negro's heavier weapons. The Associated Press score sheet gave Chocolate four rounds, Labarba four and two even. One judge voted the match a draw, the other and the referee awarded the decision to Chocolate.

vance notices, a bitter struggle that was destined up to this afternoon to produce a champion capable of recogni-tion by the New York State Athletic Commission. When Choccolate scaled 121 pounds, three over the bantam limit, and Labarba 120½, the commission decided today that the winner would not replace Charley Phil Rosenberg, who retired from the throne in 1997.

Negre, Bebbing and Weaving, Stops Labarba With Lefts.

The struggle tonight matched the skillful, dazzling Chocolate against the rushing, slugging attack of the huskier, more experienced Californian, in every round, with the exception of a lull at the halfway mark. The negro sensation snapped at Labarba's head with sharp left jabs. His weaving, bobbing rushes with straight right-hand slams and uppercuts, art clamped down tight to hold Fidel in the clinches. Labarba hold Fidel in the clinches. Labarba ripped and tore at the negro's body, made it a fight all the way, but failed to land as cleanly and accurately as the smiling "keed" did.

Although there were no knockdowns, both were in difficulties several times, which pleased the customers no little. Both were in trouble in the second, seventh and ninth rounds, but in at least three others Fidel was forced to hold after taking solid clouts on the chin.

DETROIT, May 22 (A.P.).—Although Tiger bats met the ball today with their usual vicious frequen-cy the Cleveland Indians showed a better brand of baseball and won the last of a two-game series 7 to 4. Ed Mor-gan, with two triples and a single in four times at bat, was the principal cause of the Tiger downfall.

Earl Whitehill, who started on the mound for Detroit, contributed much to his own defeat. His wild throw in the first inning permitted the Indians to fill the bases and subsequently to score two runs. Walter Miller was in trouble

They drove George Morris, ace of the Hub staff, from the mound in the fifth inning as the starting gesture toward collecting a total of twelve runs before the side was retired.

Lefty Grove, the Athletics starting pitcher, held the Sox at bay and was withdrawn after his mates had assumed an overwhelming lead. Orwoll succeeded him.

DI LEO WINS INDIAN SPRING MEDAL WITH CARD OF 76

Hufty, Second, All in the Day's Work One Stroke Behind

84 Qualifies in Championship Flight of Tournament.

Match Play Will Start Today: 6 Sixteens to Compete.

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST. OSEPH DI LEO, an attorney of this qualifying round of the Indian Spring Club invitation golf tournament, duplicating his feat of last week when he played in the qualification round of the Chevy Chase Club. Registering from Forest Hills, N. J., where he played golf when 9 years old and long before he graduated in law from the hillton institution, Di Leo played late yesterday afternoon and had a card of 36—40—76 to win by one stroke, his nearest rival being Page Hufty, of the Congressional Club, whose score totaled 36—39—77. Both of these players outdistanced Harry G. Pitt, Manor, who on the first day of the qualifying round led the field with an aggregate of 39 qualifying round of the Indian Spring led the field with an aggregate of 39-

The question of the winner of the medal hung in the balance on the last nine holes, for although Di Leo had only 36, even par, for his outward journey, Hufty was out in 38, only two strokes behind, which were the same figures with which LeRoy Sasseer, Indian Spring; S. H. Buttz, the club champion; Paul Y. Anderson, Columbia, and William P. DiEste, Indian Spring.

Two 5s on Final Nine Holes Costly to Chances of Hufty.

Di Leo, however, rolled off pars for the first six holes of the inward nine the first six holes of the inward nine and although he was a stroke over par on the sixteenth and seventeenth holes and two strokes over par on the eighteenth, missing both his drive and his second shot on the final hole, he had a lead which could not be overcome Hufty had a fine opportunity to win, but the short ninth and seventeenth holes were his undoing. On these holes, par 3s, he holed out in 5s, a loss of two strokes on each hole, which proved fatal to his chances. The cards: to his chances. The cards:

The following information has been summarized by Mr. James A. Talbot, Chairman of the Board of Richfield Oil Company of California, from his letter dated May 20, 1929, copies of which may be obtained upon request, and is subject to the more complete information contained therein:

HISTORY AND BUSINESS: "Richfield Oil Company of California was incorporated in 1926, for the purpose of acquiring all or substantially all of the outstanding capital stock of The United Oil Company (incorporated in 1909) and Richfield Oil Company (incorporated in 1911) and to engage in the business of producing, refining and marketing petroleum and its products, which are known to consumers under the trade names 'Richfield' (gasoline), 'Richfield-Ethyl' (gasoline) and 'Richlube' (motor oil). During 1928, the Company acquired controlling interest, through purchase of 100% of the outstanding Class 'A' Common Stock (voting), of Pan American Western Petroleum Company which in turn owns 100% (except directors' qualifying shares) of the capital stock of Pan American Petroleum Company, its operating subsidiary.

SECURITY AND ASSETS: "In the opinion of counsel, these bonds will be a direct obligation of Richfield Oil Company of California and will be secured by a first lien upon all the real property and interests in real property (except U. S. Government leases) now owned by the Company, and by a lien on all real property and interests in real property hereafter acquired by the Company, and by deposit with the Trustee of: (1) substantially all of the capital stock of The United Oil Company; (2) all of the Class 'A' Common Stock (voting) and at least 79.8% of the Class 'B' Common Stock of Pan American Western Petroleum Company, being at least 83.35% of the total outstanding capital stock of said Company.

"The consolidated balance sheet, as at December 31, 1928, adjusted to give effect to this financing, as certified by Messrs. Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., shows, after deducting all liabilities except these bonds, net assets of $92,607,622.56, equivalent to over $3,700 for each $1,000 Series 'A' Bond to be presently outstanding. Recent appraisals of oil lands and leases made by the Company's Geological Department show an appreciation of approximately $75,000,000 over book values, EARNINGS: "The consolidated net earnings of Richfield Oil Company of California and its subsidiaries, for the two years ended December 31, 1928 (including earnings of Pan American Western Petroleum Company and its subsidiaries from June 28, 1928, the date of acquisition of the voting stock, less proportion applicable to minority interest), after elimination of interest and discount on indebtedness converted into capital stock or retired by this or prior financing, as certified by Messrs. Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co., were as follows:

Net Earnings before deducting Depletion, Depreciation, Bond Interest and Federal Income Tax

Net Earnings after deducting Depletion and Depreciation, but before Bond Interest and Federal Income Tax....

"The above net earnings for 1928, after deducting depletion and depreciation but before bond interest and Federal income tax, are equivalent to approximately 4 times the annual interest requirement of all funded debt presently to be outstanding and, after deducting from such net earnings the annual interest requirement of the $12,857,200 First Mortgage 6% Bonds of Pan American Petroleum Company, the balance is $8,268,-676.93, equivalent to over 51/2 times the annual interest requirement of this issue. For the three months ended March 31, 1929, net earnings on a like basis were over 6 times the interest requirement of this bond issue for such period:

"The operations of Pan American Western Petroleum Company for the period from December 31, 1926, to June 28, 1928, showed a deficit which has not been given effect to in the foregoing statement, as the consolidation of the management with that of Richfield Oil Company of California has resulted in economies and savings which were not in effect during that period.

PURPOSE OF ISSUE: "Proceeds of this issue will be used for: (1) the redemption of the outstanding $4,750,000 principal amount of Richfield Oil Company of California Three-Year Convertible 51/2% Gold Notes, due June 1, 1931; (2) the retirement of the outstanding $10,266,000 Pan American Western Petroleum Company 6% Gold Notes, due January 1, 1940; (3) the liquidation of $3,047,840.94 current notes payable of Pan American Petroleum Company; and (4) additional working capital and/or other corporate purposes.

CONVERSION: "These bonds will be convertible into common capital stock of Richfield Oil Company of California, at the option of the holder, interest and dividends to be adjusted, as follows:

Each $1000 principal amount of bonds convertible into:

(1) 18 shares of stock ($55.55 a share) from May 1, 1929, to April 30, 1932 (both dates inclusive); or 17 shares of stock ($58.82 a share) from May 1, 1932, to April 30, 1935 (both dates inclusive); or

16 shares of stock ($62.50 a share) from May 1, 1935, to April 30, 1938 (both dates inclusive); or

15 shares of stock ($66.67 a share) from May 1, 1938, to April 30, 1941 (both dates inclusive); or (5) 14 shares of stock ($71.43 a share) from May 1, 1941, to May 1, 1944 (both dates inclusive)

"The indenture will contain provisions designed to protect the conversion privilege against dilution. In the event any of these bonds are called for redemption, the conversion privilege with respect to bonds so called shall continue up to and including the tenth day prior to the date for redemption. EOUITY: "These bonds will be followed by outstanding preferred and common stocks with a current market value indicating an equity of over

CONTROL PURCHASED

New York Company Obtains Majority Interest in Washington Enterprise.

STOCK TRADING EXPANDS

By THOMAS M. CAHILL. Acquisition by the New York Title & Mortgage Co. of a controlling interest of the Capitol Title & Guarantee Co., of this city, was announced yesterday by Ellot H. Thomson, treasurer of the ocal company, who reported that William H. McNeal, of the New York comnany, had represented the organization the board of the local company since the last meeting of its stockholders. Mr. Thomson said the New York Title Mortgage Co., with the largest guarantee fund of its kind in the country, at the current rate of operation will say to 35,000 investors $31,000,000 as inet on its guaranteed mortgages and the company has yet paid out in any single year in interest accounts and representing a high point in its opera-

He explained that these figures were repared for the meeting of the executive committee, at which a partial paytive committee, at which a partial payment plan for making the securities of the company available to persons of limited incomes was approved formally. The arrangement, he revealed, provides a financial independence plan whereby a certain objective is set and attained through a series of weekly or monthly payments.

Mr. Thomson also cited a unique feature embodied in the computations which take into account the normal setary increases of professional men and the professiona salary increases of professional men and women, by allowing for increasing the rate of investment as earning power grows. Charts are being prepared based on an extensive survey, which will enwith fair accuracy to deter ine his material worth at any stated

Attention was also called to the fact that at present there is considerable advantage in guaranteed first mortgage investments, according to some economists.

No change is contemplated in the management of the Capitol Title & Guarantee Co., as a result of the foregoing action. The New York company has been insuring titles in this part of the United States for the last dozen

Changes in Banking System.

Changes taking place in America's banking system indicate that in the next five years its achievements will far surpass anything accomplished by it in the past as a constructive factor in the past as a constructive factor in the Nation's progress, Craig B. Hazlewood, president American Bankers Association and vice president First National Bank of Chicago, told the annual convention of the Ohio Bankers Association at Columbus yesterday.

"In these days of swift interchange of ideas and methods business and banking progress has become visible and tangible." Mr. Hazlewood said, in patt. "There was a time when business and tangible." Mr. Hazlewood said, in part. "There was a time when business seemed without leadership and without direction. Progress consisted in a mere groping toward the light. Today the reverse is true. A better method is discovered, the news is broadcast, the idea is promptly accepted, and the various industries and units of business march forward with greater assurance and increased rapidity."

declined from 18.88 to 18.62 and closed at the lowest with the general market closing barely steady at new declines of 19 to 23 points.

The opening was steady at an advance of 2 points to a decline of 1 point, with near months relatively firm on covering by trade and speculative shorts. In some instances buyers of near months resold in later deliveries. The general market soon eased off, owing to the more favorable weather reports and the weakness abroad. After showing net losses of about to 15 points, the market rallied slightly to covering and some buyine, which may have been inspired by builtish features in the weekly report of the Weather Bureau. It looked as if the latter had either been discounted or were offset by the moreovers and the market weakened again during the afternoon.

There was enough trade buying or covering on a scale down to cause slight upturns, but offerings increased on the bulges, and the lowest on active positions. Substitute for Brookhart Practices Resolution Is Reported.

INNOCENT PURCHASERS DEFRAUDED, IS CHARGE

District Laws Are Held to Be Inadequate for Proper Regulation.

Full investigation by the Senate Dis-rict committee of the conduct of the salty finance business in Washington of the local statutes pertaining there-will be suggested to the Senate today.

The District committee, meeting late yesterday, unanimously agreed to report out a substitute for the Brookhart resolution, which provided for an inquiry into local realty finance corpothe banks and insurance subcommittee, needed by Senator John J. Blaine, of Wisconsin, asks an investigation of a vider scope than that proposed by Senator Brookhart.

wider scope than that proposed by Senator Brookhart.

Special attention is given to deficient District laws governing real estate in the Blaine resolution. No names of finance companies are mentioned, as in the Brookhart resolution.

"It is alleged," the resolution states, "that many millions of dollars of real estate mortgage notes and bonds, secured by trust deed or otherwise, on real estate within the District of Columbia have been issued in excess of the value of the properties so mortgaged and which securities have been sold throughout the United States through alleged questionable means and methods to innocent purchasers, and that purchasers of homes and other real estate are denied their day in court in default of their payment of principal or interest."

pal or interest."

The resolution further declares that the laws for the District of Columbia are either absent or ineffective for the ection of innocent purchasers of a securities and homes and real te, in the following particulars.

"(a) No adequate law relating to the suing and sale of stocks, bonds and lortgages and other securities, as affecting real estate or otherwise;
"(b) No law inhibiting unethical, under and unscrupulous real estate and nance operators;
"(c) No law providing for an orderly seclosure of trust deeds, mortgages or intracts relating to the purchase and also of real estate, through court products."

dure."
Senator Carter Glass, of Virginia, relied the investigation made by the strict committee in 1924, in connecin with the proposed extension of the ri act. The report disclosed pyrading of real estate values and the miny sales of valuable property to plats and bookkepers in the employ of ulty operators, he said.
Senator Blaine said he had studied se report of that investigation, and uld accept it as proving his contion that the local laws are inadeate in regulating real estate and uld kik transactions.

R. R. Staples' Hearing Deferred Until June 4

Hearing of charges of reckless driving, failure to exhibit an operator's permit and driving with defective brakes, against Ralph R. Staples. 18-year-old brother of Orville Staples, former policeman, was continued until June 4 by Judge Isaac R. Hitt yesterday in Traffic Court. Staples was freed in $300 bail.

Young Staples was arrested Tuesday when an automobile he was driving felled Robert Everette, colored 29, who was riding a bicycle, at Eighteenth and R. streets northwest. Everette was treated at Emergency Hospital for a sprained ankle and bruises. Orville Staples was dismissed from the police-force after a stormy trial a year ago and later figured prominently in the trial of former Police Capt. Guy E. Burlingame.

Helium Approved

Test Before the Fire Chief Proves Harmlessness of New Gas.

Heirum was given the official approval of the District Fire Department yesterday following a test before Fire Chief George Watson by a representative of the helium company.

Toy balloons filled with helium and hydrogen were exploded, showing that the helium is nonlinearmable and the the helium is noninflammable and the hydrogen inflammable. Lighted matches were touched to the inflated helium balloons and it was shown that the gas would not ignite or explode.

Hydrogen toy balloons were recently banned by the fire department. It is expected that the helium will become popular in Washington society circles for affairs where balloons are used for decorative purposes. Heretofore, it is said, helium has been obtainable only for Army and Navy lighter-than-air operations. Through the recent dis-covery of new gas deposits, helium is now available for all commercial purses, it is said.
